Add a network printer

Connect the computer to the corporate network or VPN when working remotely. Open Settings, choose Bluetooth and devices, then Printers and scanners. Select Add device. Choose the printer with the matching office location and asset label. Do not install drivers from unofficial websites.

Printer shows offline

Check that the printer is powered on and has no paper or toner warning. Confirm the network cable or approved Wi-Fi connection. Restart the printer once. On the computer, open the print queue and clear only stuck jobs belonging to the current user. If the device remains offline, provide the printer name and location to Workplace Technology.

Poor print quality

Check the paper type and tray guides. Review toner or ink warnings on the printer display. Run the built-in cleaning or calibration utility only if it is available in the printer menu. If streaks continue, record the printer model and sample page and request maintenance.
